The Body is Picked Up Near Wheatland, Iowa.

Singular Telegram Received by the Chicago Police.

Were Asked to Send a Man to Meet His Sleeper.

EVIDENTLY MEDITATED SUICIDE.

Opinion Expressed That the Dead Man's Mind Was Unhinged—The Episode With Mrs. Bradbury. Was Bound for England.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

WHEATLAND, (Iowa), Sept. 3.—W. Russell Ward of Santa Monica, Cal., who became notorious a few months ago through his connection with the elopement of Mrs. Bradbury, wife of the California millionaire, John Bradbury, met his death near here this morning by falling or jumping from the east-bound overland limited on the Northwestern Railroad. His body was picked up two hours after his death, and now lies at the City Hall, awaiting disposition by friends.

At 5 o'clock this morning the crew of a west-bound freight train on the Northwestern Railroad discovered the remains of a man, attired in a suit of underclothing, lying by the double tracks, about half a mile west of this place. The body was picked up, and later conveyed to the depot. The dead man was apparently about 35 years old. Later it was learned that the dead man was W. Russell Ward, and that he had been a passenger on the overland limited, which passed here at 2:45 a. m. Ward's ticket from San Francisco to New York was found in the clothing.

There are two theories accounting for the cause of death, one being that he committed suicide by throwing himself from the car while the train was running at a rapid rate; the other that he arose from his berth in the sleeping-car, and mistaking the vestibule door for the door of the toilet room, stepped off the swiftly-moving train to his death. He was untouched by the wheels, but his hip was broken, and the means of his instant death was apparent from an ugly wound in the forehead. The body was otherwise badly bruised.

The coroner returned a verdict of accidental death.

ACTED LIKE MAD.

Flourished Revolvers and Sent Queer Telegrams.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—According to the train officials, Ward had been acting peculiarly during a greater part of the trip. He boarded the train at San Francisco at 5:30 o'clock Monday evening, and was assigned to drawing-room No. 2. He had tickets through to Chicago. He did not display much money, but was dressed in a new suit of black clothes. On being given possession of his apartment in the Pullman car, Ward remained away from the others, and spent most of his time in his own apartments.

Early yesterday morning he began to show signs of insanity. He flourished two revolvers on the train several times, and almost created a panic among the passengers. He told the conductor who he was, and at nearly every stop the train made he would get off and send irrational telegrams. From Fremont, Neb., he sent a telegram to the Chicago Chief of Police as follows: "Please send a good man to drawing-room B, car 2, of the east-bound overland Northwestern train arriving at Chicago at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow morning."

Ward's effects consisted of several expensive satchels and his railroad tickets. The satchels were examined by the Pullman officials at the Union Depot, and it was through the papers found in them that his identity was learned. The Northwestern people were notified of this fact, and the train-dispatcher of that road immediately proceeded to have the body looked for. Several hours later a dispatch was received from Wheatlands, Iowa, that the body had been found alongside the track near that place. In Ward's satchel was found only $12 in cash, and he had a draft for $450. He also had in his clothing a hotel bill for $94.

Yesterday and last night Ward acted in a restless manner, and frequently left his apartments, creating confusion among the passengers by his peculiar actions. He refused to retire until 10 o'clock this morning. When the train pulled into the Northwestern depot, Detective Broderick leaped on board and endeavored to gain entrance into drawing-room B. The door was locked on the inside. The train crew finally managed to get in through an annex, and the detective was admitted to the room. It was found to be empty. A part of the clothing which Ward had worn was found scattered in the room, but no trace of him could be found. It was soon decided that he had jumped through the window, and all his effects were taken in charge by the Pullman Company. In the mean time the police and officials of the Northwestern road proceeded to learn the man's identity.

The police believe Ward intended to end his life in his apartment. They think he sent the telegram to them while having such an idea in his mind. It was his intention, they say, to kill himself on the train and have his body found when the train arrived here. The suicide's personal effects included a big revolver in an holster and a bowie knife, and one letter which was signed "Your affectionate mother." It was dated several months ago. The letter simply upbraided Ward for failing to keep her posted on his whereabouts, and for not writing her. Cards showing his membership in the Marlborough Union Club, England, and the Wellington Club, Grosvenor Place, Cornwall, London, were also found. The following note was written with lead pencil on a black piece of paper:

"Dear Drew: Would it be expecting too much of you to see this detective and tell him that I am willing to return to Los Angeles and undergo arrest there with him if he likes? I would rather return and face the music for what can only be a short time. Of course if you object in the least, tell me so. Yours truly, [Signed] "W. RUSSELL WARD."

A clipping from the San Francisco Examiner detailing the arrest and escape from jail at Los Angeles on August 20 of a man whose name was given as Henry Bacon was found in his pocket. Bacon was charged with holding up a street car and three gamblers.

Nobody on the train, not even the officials knew that Ward was missing until Conductor Roudy took charge of the train at Geneva at 5 o'clock this morning. In going the rounds of the train he found the body. Empty, and the car window wide open. All of the man's clothing was found. A new book entitled, "Wise, Witty and Wicked Maxims," with all the passionate love passages and those pertaining to heartless women heavily underlined with pencil, was also found. It is the belief of the railroad people that Ward had become insane brooding over his elopement with Mrs. Bradbury.

The porter of the car, C. M. Galloway, and the conductor, L. F. Godman, say that Ward was morose and gloomy from the time he boarded the train. He kept in his stateroom most of the time, reading love stories.

DAY ACCOUNT.

Particulars Which Mystified the People and the Police.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)
CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—W. Russell Ward of Santa Monica, a passenger on the Chicago and North Western overland which arrived at Chicago today, and believed to be the man who eloped with the wife of Millionaire Bradbury of Los Angeles, leaped from a window of a Pullman car while the train was rushing through Iowa, last night, and was killed. A telegram was received from Wheatlands, Iowa, almost at the same time the train pulled into Chicago, which said that Ward's body, clad only in a nightgown, had been found near that station. It is believed he was demented. It is not known at what hour Ward jumped from the train.

Ward's absence was discovered by Conductor Roudy when the train was between Geneva and Chicago. All the suicide's clothing and effects were found in the berth which he occupied. The police of Chicago are mystified over the case. Yesterday afternoon the following telegram was received at Central Station:

"Please send a good man to drawing-room B, car 2, eastbound overland Northwestern train arriving in Chicago at 7:30."

The telegram was sent from Fremont, Neb., yesterday afternoon. It bore no signature. Detective Broderick met the train at the depot, and investigation found that the drawing-room indicated had been occupied by Ward. The body will be held at Wheatland until friends are communicated with. His destination was Buffalo.

Another report is to the effect that Ward was brought into the train at Fremont, Neb., by a gentleman well-dressed and apparently a business man of middle age. There was nothing unusual about him, and neither Ward nor his friend attracted any attention. Just before the train started from Fremont the other man placed Ward in the stateroom, and, shutting the door, leaped from the train. It is not known whether he locked the door on the outside.

Immediately after leaving the car the stranger rushed to the telegraph office and sent a message to the police of this city, requesting them to look for his friend in charge when the train arrived. The police are inclined to believe that Ward was of unsound mind, and that he was sent to this city by friends. Telegrams have been forwarded by the police to Fremont, requesting further evidence.

ROCKEFELLER'S GENEROSITY.

Completes His Gift to the Baptist Missionary Societies.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

BOSTON, Sept. 3.—John D. Rockefeller, in pursuit of a promise to the American Baptist Missionary Union and the American Baptist Home Mission Society, has sent his check for the balance of the $250,000 to be given by him on condition that the two societies should raise $250,000.

On August 1 the American Baptist Missionary Union, with headquarters in Tremont Temple, this city, received Mr. Rockefeller's check for $121,267. Now the American Baptist Home Mission Society, the headquarters of which are in New York, has received a check for the amount necessary to cancel its indebtedness. This contribution is the largest gift ever given to the missionary cause.

Idaho's Legislative Quandary.

DENVER (Colo.), Sept. 2.—A special from Boise, Idaho, says Judge Stewart today decided the anti-gambling law unconstitutional. The decision is under the decision of the Supreme Court in the fee-law case, which in effect nullifies all the important laws of the State. Encouraged by this decision, the district courts of the State will be flooded by attacks on various laws which are claimed to come under the ban of the Supreme Court. If the Appellate bill is attacked, as seems likely, Gov. Steinberg may be forced to reconvene the Legislature.

ZELAYA DENIES IT.

Says Japan is not Negotiating to Control the Canal.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—A dispatch to the Herald from Managua says: "Your correspondent interviewed President Zelaya as to the statement that Japan is secretly negotiating with the Diet of the Greater Republic of Central America to take the Nicaraguan Canal project out of the hands of the United States, setting aside the treaty rights of the United States. The President declares that the statement is absolutely false. He says that while he ardently desires to have the canal completed as soon as possible, Japan has never offered to take any hand in the matter."
"President Zelaya's wish, according to his statement, is for the work to be done by either the United States or a private company."

SECTION TWENTY-TWO.

MR. DINGLEY'S PAPER COMMENTS ON IT EDITORIALY.

Says the Current Controversy is Much Ado About Nothing. Amendment by the Conference Was No Trick in the Dark—Was Aimed at Canadian Ports.

(BY THE TIMES SPECIAL WIRE.)

LEWISTON, (Me.), Sept. 3.—[Special Dispatch.] The Lewiston Journal, Congressman Dingley's paper, has made its first editorial comment upon section 22 of the Dingley tariff law. This comment may be taken as coming directly from Congressman Dingley himself. It says the current controversy is much ado about nothing, and continues:

"The section as framed by the Ways and Means Committee and passed by the House was the same as in the previous tariff. The Senate amended the House section, striking out the words 'or any act of Congress' in the conditional clause, which is the modification of importance that is causing most of the controversy."
"Many of the newspapers in commenting on the section assume that the conferees inserted this amendment, and proceed to comment on what the claim was 'a trick in the dark,' etc. The fact is, however, that this amendment was adopted in the open Senate. The other amendment was adopted by conferees simply to prevent an evasion of the section by the landing of foreign merchandise in Canada by vessels not entitled to equal privileges in our ports, then shipping it to the United States, and was not intended or understood to affect bonding privileges."

DE WOLF HOPPERS.

Courts to Be Asked to Dissolve Their Marital Partnership.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—The Herald today publishes proceedings for divorce from her husband, the well-known comic opera star. The ground upon which Mrs. Hopper bases her claim for a decree of divorce is one frequently employed as the foundation for such cases.

The relations existing between Mr. and Mrs. Hopper are two-fold, business as well as domestic, and while the divorce proceedings which Mrs. Hopper is about to institute will result in the severance of the latter, they need not affect the former. And it may be stated that they will not.

Fatal Boiler Explosion.

Three Women Surprise Luetgert.

Rings Found in the Vat are Identified.

The Missing Wife Wore Them on Her Fingers.

Defendant Makes a Vain Effort to Break Down the Testimony. That Chauncey Potash—What Carl Voelker Saw—The Police.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Three women gave damaging evidence against the defendant in the Luetgert trial today. They positively identified the rings found in the vat as being the property of Mrs. Luetgert, and said that they had seen them on her hands, and one of them had talked with her about the rings at one time and so felt sure that the rings found in the vat and those she saw on Mrs. Luetgert's fingers were the same. The defendant made a desperate effort to break down the evidence of the three women, but they all stuck to their stories, and swore the rings were those of the wife of the sausage-maker.

The session of the court was short in the afternoon, as Judge Tuthill said that he desired to make a personal visit to the factory to see for himself where the murder is said to have been committed. He took with him an attorney from the side of the defense and one from those engaged in the prosecution and during the visit the factory no other person was allowed around the premises.

Carl Voelker, a chemist, who had been at one time engaged with Luetgert when he manufactured permanganate of potash, and who was at one time shipping clerk in the factory, testified during the afternoon session that he was familiar with all the number of processes of making sausage, and he did not have any occasion to use any caustic potash in the factory. The defendant could not, he said, have secured it for the purpose of using it in the making of sausage. During all the time that Voelker was around the factory, he said, the vats were never used. Voelker told the jury that on one occasion he saw Luetgert use violence toward his wife. She and another woman came into the office of the factory one afternoon, and Luetgert appeared to be in a rage. Witness was not in the office, but he saw Luetgert put his wife and her companion out of the door of the office. Mrs. Luetgert and the lady with her hurried away, much excited, and he heard Mrs. Luetgert say: "He has a revolver and will kill us." The witness did not see the revolver.

OTHER TESTIMONY.

Why Capt. Schuetzler Went to New York—Attorney Vincent.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—The number of persons striving to be present at the Luetgert murder trial today was so great that the guards stationed on the stairways turned back everybody not in some way connected with the case.

The cross-examination of Police Captain Schuetzler was resumed. Attorney Vincent, for the defense, asked to have stricken from the case the captain's statement that he did not go to New York to find out whether Mrs. Luetgert had been seen there, but to look up the reputation of Gretry, who said he had met her on Broadway. Attorney Vincent said this statement was prejudicial. The court refused to sustain the motion. Capt. Schuetzler told of the trip to New York and the investigation of Gretry's reputation. He said the State wanted to be prepared to prove Gretry a perjurer if he appeared as a witness for the defense. Capt. Schuetzler was asked about the visit of Attorney Vincent to the East Chicago Avenue police station on the day of Luetgert's arrest, but the State objected.

Vincent stated that he expected to prove by Luetgert that when arrested, Inspector Schaack had refused to permit any person to see him until next day. The attorney said he was not allowed to see him, and was compelled to begin habeas corpus proceedings. Judge Tuthill refused to admit any evidence regarding the matter. "Inspector Schaack is not on trial here," he said.

DEBATE WAS BITTER.

VOKES HEATED DISCUSSION.

posed—The Board of Public Works Defers Action.

JUST A FEW SENSATIONS.

DAMAGING EVIDENCE AGAINST

Chain of Circumstantial Evidence.
What the Defendant Told a Friend After His Arrest.

THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS held a protracted session on the City Hall yesterday, the route of the Pasadena boulevard being the subject of discussion. Buena Vista street has been practically agreed upon as the initial portion of the boulevard, but there is a wide difference of opinion as to the route to be pursued after crossing the river. The debate before the Board of Public Works was marked by the display of much personal feeling and unpleasant charges were freely made.
The board postponed action for two weeks.

Much more interest was developed in the McCamish murder trial yesterday than on the day preceding. The proceedings closed at night with the prosecution in decidedly the strongest position, and much interest and curiosity is being expressed as to the line of the defense that will be put up in Mc-Camish's behalf. The courtroom was crowded with interested spectators throughout the day.

AT THE CITY HALL.
A WARM SESSION.

PASADENA BOULEVARD BEFORE THE BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

Some Heated Debate—Charges of Self-Interest Made Against Judge Silent—Buena Vista Street Practically Agreed Upon—Postponed Two Weeks.

The much-mooted question of the route of the Pasadena boulevard was the subject of discussion yesterday afternoon. Advocates of the different routes were present, and the session was a warm one, the representatives of the conflicting interests at times being extremely acrimonious in their charges and counter-charges. The most sensational incident was the open intimation by one of the advocates of the Pasadena-avenue route that Judge Silent, who is one of the most active members of the general boulevard committee, was personally interested in securing the adoption of the Adobe-road route. This insinuation was denied by Judge Silent. Charges of misrepresentation were freely indulged in by others of the disputants. The advocates of the Pasadena-avenue route urged upon the Board of Public Works the immediate adoption of a recommendation to the Council that the City Engineer be instructed to make a survey of the route, and maps for the route and maps for this route. The proposition was opposed by Judge Silent and others, who desired delay. The board finally postponed action for two weeks.
The fact was developed that the opposition to adopting Buena Vista street
as the initial portion of the boulevard
has practically disappeared, the controversy being now as to the route eastward from the Buena Vista street
bridge.

The members of the "Buena Vista Street, Pasadena Avenue and Orange Grove Avenue Boulevard Committee" met in the Council Chamber before the Board of Public Works convened.
The session was a protracted one, which resulted in the adoption of a resolution modifying the communication submitted to the Council on August 1, and directing the City Engineer to make a survey of the route, and maps for this route. The proposition was opposed by Judge Silent and others, who desired delay. The board
finally postponed action for two weeks.
The fact was developed that the opposition to adopting Buena Vista street
as the initial portion of the boulevard
has practically disappeared, the controversy being now as to the route
eastward from the Buena Vista street
bridge.

A NEW FEATURE.

The most important change in the previous plan is the suggestion that a small tract of ground, bounded by Water, street the Los Angeles River, Pasadena avenue and Downey avenue be purchased and improved, to serve as the starting point on the East Side for one or more boulevards. When the board convened it was addressed by S. A. W. Carver, who explained the project as finally agreed upon by the committee above mentioned. Address of ground which it is proposed to purchase would serve as a starting point for either a boulevard on Pasadena and Orange grove avenue, or one running out on Downey avenue to Eastside Park and thence over the Adobe road. The former route would simply mean the widening and improvement of Buena Vista street and Pasadena avenue, and he urged the board to recommend to the Council an immediate reference to the City Engineer.

R. A. Ling made a plea for the Alhambra route, but he desired the board to postpone action so that it might learn the results of a meeting of East side property-owners, to be held last evening.

Judge Silent said that he appeared before the board at the request of L.
E. Mosher, chairman of the Boulevard Committee. He outlined briefly the work of the committee, and said that property-owners on Main, Spring and Los Angeles streets in the vicinity of the Plaza were much interested in the proposed use of Buena Vista street, and already many of them had signed and their willingness to be included in an assessment district for this route.

One feature of this plan was the proposal to cut a new street from the Plaza to the junction of Buena Vista and Buena Vista streets, appropriating for the purpose a part of the ground adjoining the old Plaza Church and belonging to the City of Los Angeles. This proceeding would make it important to secure a more general expression from property-owners in the vicinity, and for this reason, as well as to ascertain more fully the sentiment of East side owners, Judge Silent moved that the matter be postponed two weeks.

PASADENA VIEWS.

Several prominent citizens of Pasadena then addressed the board in behalf of the Pasadena-avenue route. P.
M. Green, president of the First National Bank of Pasadena, urged the strong natural advantages of this route, the beauty of the scenery and the comparatively easy grades were important considerations. Water could readily be obtained from the arroyo for springing the route, and Mr.
Green assured the board that the City Council of South Pasadena, of which he is president would cooperate heartily if this route should be chosen.

A. R. Metcalf spoke of the strong desire of Pasadena people that this route should be chosen, and forcibly presented the arguments in its favor.
The fact that owners along the route are willing to pay the cost was emphasized.

George F. Kernaghan, president of the Pasadena National Bank, strongly depreciated further delay, saying that the people wanted the boulevard, and wanted it at once. With petition before it representing 20,000 feet of frontage in favor of the route the board should take immediate action.

INDORSED BY THE CITY ENGINEER.

City Engineer Dockweiler was asked to present his views. He expressed the opinion that the Pasadena-avenue route was the most feasible and the cheapest of all that had been suggested. It merely entailed the widening of Buena Vista street and Pasadena avenue. Large sums of money had been spent in the improvement of Elysian Park, but as yet the approach to the park was little more than an alley encumbered with street car tracks. The widening of Buena Vista street would give an adequate entrance to the park, and would also give to the East Side much-needed avenue to the heart of the city. A single viaduct would suffice to span all the railroads. The boulevard would also serve as the beginning of a new era of wide connecting all the parks of the city. The proposed approach from the Plaza to Buena Vista street would afford access to Bellevue park, and through it to Sunset boulevard. Mr.
Dockweiler said that if the Council should refer the matter to him, maps and surveys could be completed in six weeks.

E. H. Lockwood urged an immediate action, saying that the agitation in favor of other routes was doing harm against the resolution before the board.
The building of a boulevard on Pasadena avenue need not interfere with the Downey avenue or any other homeward. Delays might prove dangerous.
The opposition then had an inning.
Capt. Taylor urged a vigorous protest against the Pasadena-avenue route, because it was not a boulevard, but a road, and that many of those who had signed the petition for this route had been induced to do so by misrepresentations.

If Downey-avenue property-owners were willing to pay the cost of homewarding their street, he was in favor of allowing that to be the route.

Mr. Bartley said that he was one of a committee appointed several years ago to select a boulevard route, and the committee fixed upon the Arroyo Seco or Pasadena-avenue route, because of its unquestioned scenic advantages. Everything was in its favor, and the arguments are equally forcible now.

PLAN OF THE BOULEVARD.

Mr. Lockwood then submitted a design of the boulevard as agreed upon by the Buena Vista street, Pasadena avenue and Orange Grove avenue committees. At his request it was explained by the City Engineer.

The total width of the proposed boulevard is 150 feet. A fifty-foot strip in the center is reserved for electric-car tracks flanked by ornamental trees. On either side of the central strip is a thirty-two-foot roadway, this width including the sidewalks. The center of the road is to be paved with concrete gutters. Beyond the roadway are twenty-foot strips planted with grass and shade trees, and lastly a six-foot strip for sidewalks.

Mr. Dockweiler said that the narrow roadways, Mr. Dockweiler considered a strong point, as twenty-five feet would suffice for all possible traffic, and the cost of maintenance would be very much less than if the roadways were wider. The four rows of trees, which would be planted in the boulevard would greatly aid its beauty.

WANTED DELAY.

Joseph Messer protested against immediate decision, and said, perhaps that he represented one of the largest property-owners of the city and that he had circulated a petition which had been signed by the owners of $10-000,000 worth of property, opposing the Pasadena-avenue route. It was a question for the taxpayers of the city to decide, and the board would do well in order to give them an opportunity to be heard.

S. A. W. Carver read the resolution adopted Tuesday evening by the Northwest Improvement Association and published yesterday in The Times. Mr.
Carver said that the board of Public Works was merely asked to recommend that the City Engineer obtain information concerning the Pasadena-avenue route, and that the board was not to commit the city to the final selection of this route. The work of the East Side Improvement Association was to investigate the route, and he declared to be representative of the wishes of East Side property-owners.

C. C. Monaghan, a resident of Pasadena avenue, who opposes this route, made an emphatic protest, declaring that owners on the avenue did not desire to pay the expense which would be incurred.

Exception to this statement was taken by Frank P. Flint, United States District Attorney. He said that the board of Public Works was not to

tion of this route. The work of the speaking at some length in opposition to the Pasadena-avenue route and in favor of the Downey-avenue route.

declared to be representative of the
wishes of East Side property-owners.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

Other Business Transacted by the Board of Public Works.

At the morning session of the Board of Public Works, the proposed alley from Fourth to Fifth streets, between Hill and Broadway, was the subject of some discussion. Henry Martz, Mr.
Holliman and E. D. Wade appeared before the board to urge that an alley be opened thirty feet wide except at the ends, where a width of ten feet was proposed. This peculiar shape is devised because of the character of improvements on Fourth and Fifth streets.

Mrs. E. D. Wade was represented by an attorney who made a vigorous protest declaring that an alley of the shape proposed would be valueless. Nothing less than a uniform width of twenty feet would satisfy the protestant. The matter was finally postponed for two weeks, and an effort might be made to reach an amicable agreement between the parties in interest. The board made the following recommendations to the City Council:

"That the petition from Mr. Hagan et al., asking that Grand View avenue between Eighth and Ninth streets be graded, guttered, curbed with cement and sidewalk with cement five feet wide, under the Bond Act, be referred to the City Engineer for his estimate of cost and if the same exceeds the amount required by law, then to present ordinance of intention therefor.

"That the petition from Mr. A. S.
Shorb, asking permission to grade gravel, sewer, sidewalk and curb Twenty-seventh street from Grand avenue to 330 street, through the Adams-street and Grand-avenue tract, by private contract, be granted, the petitioner to enter into contract upon terms provided by the city for that purpose.

"That the petition from E. Hollenbeck et al., asking that a portion of the City Engineer be made of an un-width of eighty feet and graded and curbed with redwood under the Bond Act, be referred to the City Engineer to investigate if said street is eighty feet
wide, and if so found, to present ordinance of intention for improvements
asked for in petition.

"That the petition from Mrs. E. L.
Biles et al., asking that a cement curb and sidewalk be placed on the west side of Olive street between First and Second streets, be referred to the City Engineer for ordinance of intention.

"That the bid of Frank Gillespie to sidewalk Hope street between Temple street and Adams street, at 10c per square foot be accepted and the necessary resolution of award adopted."

City Clerk's Report.

The City Clerk has filed a report that it will be in order for the Council to take action confirming the report of commissioners upon the widening of New Main street between Thirty-seventh street and Stinson avenue. Also the City Engineer has filed the following ordinances: For surveying portions of Lake Shore avenue and Palo Alto street; for improving Adams street from Central street to the city western city limits; for improving Adams street from Hoover to Congress avenue; for improving Twenty-first street from Central street to the city
western city limits; for improving Twenty-second street from Brooklyn avenue, and for improving Twenty-second street from Naomi avenue to the Dalton tract.

Fuel Contract.

The Supply Committee has filed the following report with the City Clerk:
"In the matter of bid for supplying coal for the city, we recommend that the bid of Clark Bros., at the following prices, be accepted and the City Engineer instructed to present contract for the same to the City Clerk."

Sewer Committee's Report.

The Sewer Committee yesterday filed a report recommending that the protect from G. Sorman et al., be set for hearing at 2 o'clock p.m. on Monday.
The board of Public Works was instructed to notify protestants in the manner required by law; also that the petition from Dr. A. S. Shorb, asking that the City Engineer be made of an un-width of eighty feet and graded and
curbed with redwood under the Bond Act, be referred to the City Engineer to investigate if said street is eighty feet
wide, and if so found, to present ordinance of intention for improvements
asked for in petition.

Filled With the City Clerk.

Property-owners on Toberman street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets, have filed a protest against proposed improvements.

Property-owners on West Washington street have filed a petition asking that the street be widened to a uniform width of 100 feet from Hoover street to the city limits, and a equal strip to be taken from each side of the street.

Twenty-fifth-street Assessment.

The assessment for sidewalk and curbing Twenty-fifth street from Hoover street to Howland avenue is $10.25. In the Street Superintendent's

FEDERAL COURTS.

Miss Sita Native Born—Blackburn's Arrangement Postponed.

Lee Yuck Sin may remain. Such was the decision given by United States Commissioner Van Dyke yesterday.
Miss Sita is a comely little Chinese woman, and when she came up for examination yesterday afternoon, such inquiries as to her birth in San Francisco were produced that Commissioner Van Dyke discharged her.

The case of Hum Tong, who was ordered deported by Commissioner Van Dyke several days ago, was on appeal before Judge Wellborn in the District Court yesterday. The original decision was affirmed, and Tong will be compelled to leave the land of sunshine for his old home. He was apprehended by the police of the city of San Juan Capistrano, some time ago, while trying to join his friends here.

In the case of Henry K. Whittle vs.
the V. M. Miller and Milling be valued at $20,000. It also declared that the compensation of Receiver W. N.

Crandall at $20, with a commission on the amount of sale of the property, be paid to the plaintiff. The case was charged with sending threatening pos-

The Times

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

The serial story now being told in court by the Sage of Ioanosa is vastly entertaining. The hero of the tale, Rebel George, the one-eyed partner of Baldy Sowers, may be a little off-color in his principles, but that he is an artist and a humorist is not to be denied.

It is a woman's inalienable privilege to change her mind, and therefore nobody should make any disagreeable remarks about the Orange county woman who wishes to withdraw the suit for divorce which she began before she learned that her husband had struck it rich on the Klondike.

If Uncle Collis doesn't know what to do with his Santa Monica property—now that Uncle Sam declines to make a report of it—he might consider the feasibility of turning it into a game preserve. The settlers down there are killing cougars, and it is credibly reported that the tiger has his lair in the middle of the town.

Despite the wide differences of opinion concerning the route to be chosen for the Pasadena boulevard, all interests seem at length to have agreed that the boulevard should begin at the Plaza and run over Buena Vista street to Elysian Park. The park should certainly have some more suitable approach than it has now. As to the route from the Buena Vista street bridge eastward, the residents of the East Side disagree very radically. The controversy has been interesting throughout, and has now reached that pleasing stage where the disputants call one another liars, and impute corrupt motives.

HELD TO ANSWER.

Bicycle Burglars to Be Tried on Two Charges.

C. W. Filkins, Jasper Briden were before Justice Morrison again yesterday for examination on three separate charges of burglary. They were held in $1500 bail each on two of the charges, and the third, the Watts bicycle case, was dismissed. The evidence in this case was very strong.

Francesca Melendez, the mistress of Filkins, who had been arrested as an accomplice in the bicycle burglary, but discharged some time ago, sat by her lover's side throughout the examination. She kissed him good-bye when the case was over and the prisoners were returned to the City Jail. They will now be taken to the County Jail, pending trial in the Superior Court.

Detective Goodman, who worked up the evidence, thinks they will be convicted. Filkins has done time in the penitentiary at Columbus, O. He belongs to a good family in the East. Briden is a young Missourian, who seems to have fallen into evil ways and to have been used as a tool by Filkins, who is older and more experienced in crime.

Attorney W. B. Bacon is looking after the prisoners' interests.

GOOD APPLES.

Fine Fruit Produced in the San Francisco Canyon.

The San Francisco Canyon is coming into notoriety as a health resort for the production of delicious fruit. Juan de Celis, who owns a ranch at the head of the canyon, 3000 feet above sea level, brought to town yesterday a basket of apples, tree laden with as fine fruit as can be found in a day's journey in any direction from Los Angeles. In color, size, smoothness and soundness, as well as flavor, this fruit is not to be excelled. Furthermore, the branch could not possibly hold more. Dr. G. Knepper, who has a ranch adjoining that of Mr. de Celis, has the fruit on exhibition in his office. He has a young orchard started, which he thinks will in a few years rival that of Mr. de Celis. Apples, pears, plums and other fruits flourish in the San Francisco canyon, as well as apples of the kind of Salinas Burbank potatoes are produced by the rich, loamy soil of the valley. It is a good district for Superintendent Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce to draw upon for supplies for the chamber exhibit.

OUTCAST AND FUGITIVE.

Sensational Stories Told About a Dead Man.

Unless an order comes from the relatives of J. Henry Wischmeier to have his remains shipped East, the body of the suicide will be buried today in the potter's field. Undertaker Garrett has as yet received no instructions from the relatives of the unfortunate man.

Later developments make it appear that Wischmeier was a fugitive from justice. It is alleged that he forged the name of E. T. Brakeschuler to a check for $14, some weeks ago. He tendered this in payment for a laundry bill of $5, and received $9 in change. It is alleged he was wanted in San Francisco for similar petty crimes, and that he was cast off by his friends and the East for similar reasons. It is also stated that he tried to commit suicide by inhaling gas on several former occasions.

A Vacation Recede.

[Chicago Record.] "Our typewriter girl asked the boss if he couldn't lighten her work this hot weather. 'What did he say?' 'He told her not to hit her typewriter keys so hard and to lick her postage stamps only on the corner.'"

Degrees of Cold.

[Chicago News.] That 60 deg. below zero in Klondike is not so awful cold is testified to by several hundred persons who called at the White House during President Harrison's term.

The complaint against O. A. Stine for failure to provide for his three minor children was dismissed yesterday by Justice Morrison.

WHAT LINCOLN SAID.

President Lincoln once said: "You can fool some people sometimes; you can fool some people all the time; but you can't fool all the people all the time." You have often been fooled into smoking a cheap cigar at a high price. Don't be one of the "all-the-times." In future insist upon getting an "El Belmont" cigar. The finest clear Havana cigar in the United States today.

IN ALASKA.

HOW TO FIND GOLD THERE, BY ONE WHO KNOWS.

Joseph Ladue, Who Promises to Be the American Barney Barnato, Gives the Advice of Experience to the Argonauts of '97.

[New York World.] Joseph Ladue, who bids fair to become America's Barney Barnato, knows more of the new land of gold than any other man. He is the founder of and largest land owner in Dawson City. It was fifteen years ago that he began his career as a fur trader in Alaska and the Northwest Territories.

On August 27, 1896, he was the first man to hear of the discovery of gold in the new diggings. He started at once for the scene and began prospecting. He had money to back his judgment and a perfect knowledge of the country. He staked out one claim, all that the law allows, and he soon bought out twelve other claims.

Then he took a survey of the mouth of the Klondike and Yukon rivers, and put in a bid for the government land thereabouts, and secured 175 acres of it at $1.25 per acre. That makes him the owner of thirteen staked claims in the Big Bonanza, for any one of which he has been offered $100,000, and has refused the offer. His potential and practically assured wealth, both as a gold-mine owner and a real-estate owner, is certainly "beyond the dreams of avarice." He is destined to be one of the richest men in the world—the American duplicate of Barney Barnato.

He has written a book, full of information and practical advice for those who intend to seek fortunes in the Yukon gold diggings. Mr. Ladue tells exactly how a Klondike claim must be staked out. Throughout the district are numerous small streams or creeks running through narrow valleys between the foothills. The prospective miner determines on which stream to hunt for the precious metal, and having made a "find," he stakes out his claim.

In staking the claim the prospector must not exceed 660 feet up and down the creek, the general course of the valley. The width of the claim can run from base to base of the hills or mountains. If there are no claims located on this particular stream the claim is known as the "discovery claim," and the stakes used are marked O. The next claim staked as you proceed up the creek is marked No. 1, as is the next claim going down the stream. The four stakes being driven and each marked with your own initials, and the letters "M L" (meaning mining location,) you must bound your claim with cross or end lines, and then proceed within sixty days to file the claim with the government's recorder at Dawson City. The Recorder at present is also the Gold Commissioner.

In recording, affidavits must be made that the claim is properly staked, and that no other claim has been found. The number of claim must also be given, and if it is not the discovery claim it must be mentioned, as, for instance, No. 1 or No. 10 above or below "discovery claim," as the case may be. If a claim should be staked before gold is discovered thereon, the prospector has sixty days in which to prosecute the search for gold. If, when this time has expired, he is yet unsuccessful, he can no longer hold this claim, as the finding of the metal is absolutely necessary to the permanent holding of the claim.

The method for staking a quartz claim is similar. Here you lay out a claim 150 feet long by 6 feet wide. The stakes are marked as in placer claims, and the same rules govern in regard to finding gold and filing the claims. The miner having filed his claim, it is necessary that he work the claim three consecutive months each year. These requirements, though simple, are imperative necessary for the protection of the miner; for should a miner attempt to work a claim without first properly staking and recording the same, any one could come in, work on the property, properly stake and hold the claim, and so compel the first man to leave the prospecting and find but one claim. Others he may acquire must be by purchase and the bill of sale properly recorded at time of transfer. Should he abandon a claim he can, of course, locate another.

Mr. Ladue corrects many current statements and notions concerning the best way to get to the Klondike. He says the best route for a man to take to the gold regions is from Seattle, Wash., to Juneau, Alaska, and then to Dawson City, by the pass and waterways.

The traveler having paid his way to Seattle should on arrival there have not less than $500. This is the minimum sum necessary to pay his fare from Seattle to Juneau, purchase his outfit and supplies for one year, and pay his necessary expenses in the gold regions for that length of time.

He thinks it deplorable that so many are starting at this time for the gold fields, and does not recommend starting before March 15. The reason for this is the best in that the season is better then. If a man has only, say $500, and wants to do his own packing over the Tuya Pass, it gives him the time to get his outfit and supplies for one year, and pay his necessary expenses in the gold regions for that length of time.

From Dyea he packs his outfit to the foot of the Tuya Pass—the length of which to the summit is about fifteen miles. He must now carry his outfit up the pass, which he generally does in two or more trips, according to the weight of his outfit, unless he is able to hire Indians or mules; but so far there are very few Indians to be hired, and still fewer mules.

He now starts for Lake Linderman from the head of the pass, a distance of eight miles—the distance from Dyea to Lake Linderman being thirty-one miles. At Lake Linderman he commences making his boat for which he has brought the proper supplies in his outfit, with the exception of the timber, which he finds at Lake Linderman. He spends one week at Lake Linderman making his boat and getting ready for the long trip down the waterways to Dawson City, the heart of the Klondike region. The trip through Lake Linderman is short, the lake being only five miles long. At the foot of the lake he must portage to Lake Bennett, the portage, however, being less than a mile.

On Lake Bennett, twenty-eight miles long, he crosses the British boundary. Thence he continues over Caribou Crossing to Lake Tagish, twenty miles long, and thence through Marsh Lake to Lynx River, to Miles Cañon. Soon after he reaches the White Horse Rapids, which are very swift and dangerous. No novice must try to run them in a boat alone. Thence the journey continues to Lake Labarre and on to Lewis River. The Big Salmon and Little Salmon Rivers are the next stages, and then the traveler comes to Five Finger Rapids, and then to Rink Rapids. Fort Selkirk is next reached, and the rest of the journey is easy. The Yukon River begins here, and after ninety-eight miles on it the White River is reached; then the Stewart River, and then Fort Ogilvie. Dawson City is only forty miles from Fort Ogilvie, and the new gold fields will soon be in sight.

RETURNS FROM EXPERIMENTAL GROWTHS OF SUGAR BEETS.

Good Work of the Board of Trade in Tucson—Hunting a Site for Waterworks.

BIENNIAL MOQUI SNAKE DANCE

A WILD SPECTACLE AT ONCE TERRIBLE AND DISGUSTING.

Rich Output of the Greatville Gold Fields—Independent Legislation. Took a Gila Monster for a Stone.

PHOENIX, Aug. 31.—(Regular Correspondence.) Returns have been received from experimental growth of sugar beets in this valley. As a whole, the returns are disappointing. The best was 15.3 per cent. saccharine, from the Fowler ranch. Like the richest assays from a gold mine, however, this figure is not an average, what a beet crop in the valley would return more than a mine would average per ton the return of the highest assay. One lot of thirteen samples from the experimental station may be taken as nearer the average. This lot returned 11.3 per cent. Perhaps this figure might be taken as a basis of what the valley would do. Certainly it is a return high enough to warrant the erection of a sugar factory in the valley. At the experiment station Prof. Cladin has been giving his entire time to studying the growth of the beet, and is trying to discover the best time of the year to plant the seed. Some of the samples sent to Tucson for analysis were planted in the month of February and some in later months.

TUCSON, Aug. 31.—(Regular Correspondence.) The Board of Trade here is proving itself a practical working concern, in fact, something more than a dazzling abstraction, as have organizations of similar character proven in the past. It has practical duties, and assigns committees to see that such duties are performed. It has committees at present at work on the following objects: To secure a reduction of city taxation; to get a better road to Maricopa; to obtain additional dwellings in Tucson; to bring about a better water system; and to secure a sewerage system. Without brass band accompaniments the Board of Trade has held one of these sessions, and while all the objects may not be obtained, valuable returns may be expected from their labors. To this board is due the credit of the new customhouse at Sausal, and a revival of Sonora trade via that point. Milton Aldridge, singularly at once a professional gambler and a prominent and good citizen of Tucson, is dead. He died at Stockton, Cal., and his remains will be brought here for burial this evening. He was at once a man of many kind deeds, a loyal friend and a bitter and relentless enemy. He left considerable property.

PRESCOTT, Aug. 31.—(Regular Correspondence.) A meeting of the civil engineers who have been looking into the various sites for waterworks for this city met at the Mining Exchange. With them was R. B. Burns, chief engineer of the Santa Fe Pacific, who made the trip to Prescott to attend this meeting. He is interested in water storage, being now in supervision of the Ash Fork and Salt Lake dams, in course of erection. After several practical conferences, the Prescott Creek reservoir project was decided to be the most feasible. This will cost the city $80,000. Further surveys there will be made on the recommendation of the engineers. The various propositions were discarded for various reasons. Banning Creek had inadequate storage sites; Ash Fork, being above the city, threatens Prescott with a Johnstown disaster; the pumping plants below town involved the risk of contamination with city sewage; and the enlargement of the present supply was regarded as impracticable and doubtful.

A singular occurrence befell a cottonwood tree on McCord street. An electric wire had been rubbed against it by a limb, removing the insulating covering, and the electricity set the limb and tree on fire.

JEROME, Aug. 31.—(Regular Correspondence.) New machinery is now on the ground here for the United Verde Copper Company which in position will aggregate 3600 horse power. Already 1500 horse power is employed here, probably the greatest of any stationary plant in Arizona. Property values have advanced rapidly in Jerome. Three years ago a house was bought for $120 that has just been sold for $300. Preparatory to their ordeal as witnesses in the Jordan-Juke cases, ten miners were over to the Black Hills and familiarized themselves with the location of the claims involved. Owing to litigation, certain valuable town property claimed by S. W. Hull and Jean Allison has been withheld from the market notwithstanding active demand for some. The matter has just been settled. Allison & Co. take what is known as the "Bull" claim, which runs north and south along the hill, near the steam laundry, and retain a house and lot on the hill. The property which was in dispute is undoubtedly the most valuable real estate in Jerome. Over eighty new houses have been built in Jerome within the last six months, and twenty more, besides the mercantile houses, are in course of erection. Among these are twelve cottages and an opera house, owned by the United Verde Company, which already has fifty buildings in the town.

TEMPE, Aug. 31.—(Regular Correspondence.) The wave of property is getting in a little side sweep on the ranchers hereabouts. Crops are good, and the ranchers are enabled to make considerable loans thereon. One concern alone has lent $20,000 in the last three months, with crops as security. The river is again up, and flooding is uncomfortable, in fact, to the degree of being dangerous. Two ladies had a spill into the raging Salt, and a narrow escape from the quicksands that they will not repeat in a hurry. The declaration of hostilities between the new National board and the architect under the preceding administration, Mr. McGinnis, has been made, informally without delay. Mr. McGinnis wanted $100 on account, was refused it, and offered $50, on the ground of the work being incomplete, and in his turn refused the $50.

The Tempe Live Stock Association is the style of a new concern here. Its reason for being are described as "to regulate customs duties, and by cooperation with similar associations, suppress cattle stealing."

BISBEE, Aug. 31.—(Regular Correspondence.) The railroad to Nacozari, Sonora, is no longer on paper alone. At Don Luis, a station on the proposed line, are rails, ties, spikes and the like. The survey has all been made and grading will be gotten under way at once. The road will cross the border, running 110 miles into the Sonora government, and has been granted by the Sonora government, and tax exemptions made. By means of the road the Bisbee mines will have the outlet of a prosperous mining region, and a large trade will undoubtedly be built up and diverted this way.

ARIZONA PERSONALS.

"Buckey" O'Neil has returned from New York, where he has been active in promoting the railroad project of building a line from the Santa Fe Pacific to the Grand Canyon. He has also been pushing his mining interests there. There is a possibility of maintaining that tourist traffic alone to the canyon would support a railroad, but the really excellent and extensive mine has opened there should combine with the passenger traffic to furnish a paying railroad business.

Col. Hafford, one of the old-timers of Tombstone, and one of the last to desert the old camp, has struck it rich at Randburg. While the "colony" probably never made dozen strokes with a pick in his life, he got in his work to better advantage with his judicious grubstake. One of them has just come to fruition, netting him $12,000.

Frank McKinley, a distant relative of the President, and a man not slow to acknowledge it, is in the mountains about Prescott on his affairs as special agent of the Land Office.

He is supposed thereabouts, however, to be a prospector.

ARIZONA-AT-LARGE.

The Pima and Maricopa Indians on the Sacaton Reserve have raised and sold 400,000 pounds of wheat this year. It was purchased by the Eagle Mills of Tucson.

THE MOQUI SNAKE DANCE.

The biennial snake dance of the Moqui Indians took place this year at the village of Walpi. The ceremony was the same as the Times has previously described. In furtherance of one of their many superstitions, the Indians take rattlesnakes in their teeth, permitting the reptiles to bite them repeatedly. The Indians prepare themselves for this ordeal by a mysterious antidote known as the "medicine man of the tribe" and his successor. The ceremony is intended to bring rain and the medicine man of the tribe are supposed to be the messengers of the rain gods, and the Indians, while holding the snakes in their teeth, believe they impart the prayer of the tribe for good rains for the season to come. About one hundred and twenty-five white visitors from various parts of the country viewed the rite, among them two ladies who fainted. Kodaks were piled from all directions, forty being brought down for the occasion. The dance began twenty minutes before sunset, Sunday, the 31st. It took place on a sacred rock twelve by forty feet. The chief brought forth the snakes, a wriggling, buzzing, furious mass of 125 reptiles, mostly rattlesnakes. The Indians were divided into two parties, members of the Snake order and Antelope order. The Antelope men headed a procession, marching several times around the rock, followed by the Snake men. They lined up opposite each other at last, and chanted in good imitation of the thunder and falling rain. Then, each Snake man attached by an Antelope man, knelt on his knees, holding the snake in his mouth. The snakes were large, one sufficed, if small, two or three were held at the same time. They would then raise the snake to the drum, the snakes swaying and twisting and striking frequently at their tormentors. One large rattlesnake bit a coronal on the nose of a dancer, secured a leverage on the Indian's arm by entwining about it several times, and struggled fiercely, the rattles going at a lively clip, the dancer pulling with might and main. It was not till two more Snake men came to the rescue that the serpent was killed. The wound was deep and bleeding profusely. When all the snakes had gone through their vocation, they were sprinkled with water by the women of the tribe, and following the example of their chief, each Snake man grabbed a rattlesnake and they both ran with them. They then scattered in all directions and gently deposited the snakes in the valley, the women following with water and main. While comparisons and references to Klondyke partake very much of the chestnut order, the Klondyke in respect to the Greatville gold fields of the Santa Rita and Klondyke is irrefragable. Millions of dollars have been taken from the Klondyke, and they have been worked for forty years. Hundreds of Mexicans make a living there, dry washing the Klondyke for gold. The Klondyke is too high to obtain a steady flow of water, or millions would have been taken from there. Now comes the report that the fields are to be worked there by a patent process. Chicago concerns have a dry washer that they believe will almost get out gold where there isn't any. The company has leased fifty acres of patented ground at the fields there, and will put some of their machines at work. It is to be hoped that their machine will not be added to the beautiful assortment of dry washers already wrecked on the Greatville. If it does get out gold, there will be the fault of their machine. The land was leased by R. R. Richardson.

The ownership of George W. Sanders of the notorious Florence Camp. Sanders has proven exceedingly unpoplar. Sanders is described by farmers under the canal as an autocrat and unfair. He has not, they say, fulfilled any promises to clean out the canal or increase the flow of the canal. These facts they swore to before Judge Davis, who had the case on change of the canal. Sanders was removed. Sanders is supplanted by William H. Benson of Florence. Several other cases of justice of the peace at Tucson, old Judge Slater, now dead and of blessed memory among the cattlemen, have been brought before him. He has been gravely announced that the law on the case, passed by the last just previous Legislature, was illegal. The old man is brought to mind by the Board of Equalization of hard-up counties that has to assess the chickens and blackbirds to make ends meet. Now comes the local board and after "maturation of deliberation," decide that the change made is "unjustifiable, disproportionate and unauthorized, and made through personal and inexcusable ignorance of the conditions prevailing."

A brakeman at Soligman, named Rogers, was through the singular process of what railroad men call being "rolled." He was caught between a car on the main line and another on a switch going in an opposite direction. His shoulder and head were seriously injured.

Winslow is without a vacant house, with more in demand. While Orris Barney of Safford was "scotching" a wagon going up hill, the process being the placing of stones under the hind wheel when the horses rested, he made a quick grab for a singular stone, and got it. It writhed and whirled, and fastened a strong set of teeth into his hand. It proved to be a Gila monster. The boy is still alive.

Two soldiers deserted from Fort Grant, and, riding to Wilcox, abandoned their horses and escaped. A party of Indian scouts arrived the following morning in quest of the fugitives, but could not overtake them.

(Williams News.) A lady in the Los Angeles Times takes up two columns space telling how to silence gossip. She ought to know. Winslow is a large field here for efforts in that direction.

The wages at the Pearce mine will be cut from $2 to $1.50 per day. Needless to say the move will be very unpopular, and will probably result in the loss of many good men and a corresponding loss in output.

Att'y-Gen. Frazier has just received a curious complaint from Livestock Inspector Clark, of Fredonia, Arizona. Concerning Mr. Harper says the country in that vicinity is overrun by a large band of several hundred wild horses, unbranded and unclaimed by anybody. Besides the devastation they inflict upon the ranges, they are a nuisance in many ways. If a cattlemen turns a tame saddle horse out to graze it is apt to get mixed up with the wild horses, and the chances are that it will never be recaptured. Occasionally a fine horse belonging to the herd is captured, but there is a belief that it is a violation of the present live stock law for one to claim possession of the horse, or take him into the range, "without the consent of the owner or some one in charge." In this case there is neither an owner, nor any claim of ownership. The only apparent remedy is to slaughter the wild horses.

The huge, drooping, hundred-fingered clusters of golden dates contributed by Harvey C. Stiles yesterday form a rare sight at the Chamber of Commerce. Another contribution which attracts much notice was received yesterday from J. M. Julian of San Diego. It consists of clusters of ripe and green dates, and it is attached to the following: "Trees of this variety, 'Phoenix dactylifera,' are growing in San Diego and producing 300 to 400 pounds of fruit. The fruit never having been pollinized, is seedless. Grown on a tree 10 years old. Tree begins bearing at 10 years. It has a very year pollinized some clusters of bloom, and hope another year to have fruit to exhibit that shall be perfect in all its organs."

Other donations received yesterday are: W. J. Prouts Julian Belt, San Diego, Ellis Beauty apples; Mrs. Anna Treat, La Canada, mammoth orange cling peaches; J. B. Crutcher, Ventura, orange cling peaches; C. D. How, mammoth Kelsey Japan plums from the Garvey ranch; B. T. Cook, Covina, Fall-water apples; S. H. Loveland, city, Bartlett pears; T. P. Herbert, Santa Anita, German millet with heads six to eight inches long, China, Pike's Peak, and summer sugar, silver-skin onions, sunflowers, bamboo and Kelsey plums; C. T. Edison, Manzanita, peaches. The chamber is arranging to give a reception to the "Whispering" (W. V.) party now in San Francisco. When the date of their arrival is definitely settled, notice will be given and a good reception by the people of Los Angeles is expected. Secretary Virginia has learned that the party will be in San Francisco on the 9th, and may be expected here on the 11th.

DIDN'T FLUNG DAT ROCK.

John Scott Makes an Elaborate Defense in His Battery Case.

"Judge, I never flunged dat stone at all," said John Scott, when he took the stand in his own defense in Justice Morrison's court yesterday, on a charge of having battered one Tolbert with a rock at the Colored Odd Fellows' picnic at Sycamore Grove the other day.

"No, suh," continued Scott, "dat man Tolbert done caught a stray rock, dat's what he did. He sez so hisself. Huh, do you all think I flunged a rock at dat man? No, suh. Ef I couldn't whop 'im widout rocks, why I wouldn't fight at all. Dat John Blackburn he flunged dat brick and I knows it. Leastwise I see purty shore I knows it, kase he done had a rock in his han' and I seed it. No, Judge, hones, I never flunged dat brick."

REQUEST TO DECORATE.

Merchants and Manufacturers Desire a Gala Appearance.

The Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association issued to the members yesterday a request that they decorate their places of business on Admission day. Not much hope is entertained, however, that the request will be very universally complied with, as it is likely that the Native Sons arrangement at Catalina will attract the populace from Los Angeles.

A WONDERFUL STATEMENT.

From Mrs. McGillis to Mrs. Pinkham.

I think it my duty, dear Mrs. Pinkham, to tell you that your wonderful Compound has done for me. I was dreadfully ill—the doctors said they could cure me but failed to do so.

I gave up in despair and took to my bed. I had dreadful pains in my heart, fainting spells, sparks before my eyes—and sometimes I would get so blind, I could not see for several minutes.

I could not stand very long without feeling sick and vomiting. I could not breathe a long breath without screaming, my heart pained so. I also had female weakness, inflammation of ovaries, painful menstruation, displacement of the womb, itching of the external parts, and ulceration of the womb. I have had all these complaints.

The pains I had to stand were something dreadful. My husband told me to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine, which I did, and after taking it for a while, was cured. No other kind of medicine for me as long as you make Compound. I hope every woman who suffers will take your Compound and be cured.

THE SURVEYOR-GENERAL

HE WILL VISIT SAN PEDRO AND CATALINA.

Thinks the Harbor Should Be Built at San Pedro Right Away and No More Time Wasted in Quarrelling.

State Surveyor-General M. J. Wright of San Francisco was in the city yesterday and said: "I am going to San Pedro tomorrow morning and from there to Catalina. I used to like the place and I am interested in the harbor question. I want to take a look around San Pedro for my own satisfaction. "In the first place, I believe that is the place for the harbor, and I also believe that Secretary Alger is defying Congress and the law when he fails to have the work ordered by Congress at San Pedro commenced. It is a matter of vital importance to Southern California and months wasted in wrangling do no good to anyone. "Years ago, when there was no harbor quarrel, San Pedro was selected by competent engineers as the place to build a harbor, and the government did considerable work. Years of delay in completing the job have, I am told, impaired the work and the money that this fact is being used by the opponents of San Pedro. It must be remembered that the work left unfinished at San Pedro was not calculated by the government engineers to stand years of buffeting of winds and waves in the shape it was left, and I am also told that the fact the work has stood so well is a matter for congratulation and not censure. "At any rate, I am going to see it for myself, and I may have something to say on my return. "Surveyor-General Wright is all alone and taking his holiday in a leisurely way, having had no end of work to do since assuming his position.

A Practical Lesson in Economics. [St. Paul Pioneer Press:] There was a certain mechanic who couldn't understand "how the great advance in wheat, which only a tenth or a fifteenth of the people produce, but which all the people have to buy in the shape of flour, is such a great benefit to the country as the papers say it." He went to the editor about it. "Here I am, working in a factory which has been running only half-time; and out of my half-pay I may spend about 25 cents per week more for flour for my family. How can the rise in wheat help me or thousands like me?" The editor said nothing, but he handed that mechanic a note from the superintendent of that factory. It read: "Please announce that in consequence of a great increase of orders from the farming districts we shall tomorrow commence running full-time. That meant an immediate addition to the mechanic's income of $7 per week. And he left the editor's sanctum with a glow of intelligence on his face. For he now understood how, when the farmer has money to spend, everybody else is prosperous.

BOLTON WAS SHORT.

BUT HE WAS NOT A DEFAULTER OR EMBEZZLER.

His Shortage Was Less Than a Hundred Dollars and Due to Errors in Entries—He Quarrelled With Cline Over a Settlement.

On September 1 Byron Ashley, for years clerk and stenographer to President Cline of the Los Angeles Lighting Company and Los Angeles Electric Company, resigned his position, assigning no reason for making the move other than that he no longer cared to hold the place.

"I do not care to discuss the matter just now," said Mr. Ashley last night. "All I have to say is that I no longer cared to do the place. Yes, I was in slight conflict with President Cline and in his office, I have no position in view. I simply resigned because I wanted to."

One by one the old men are resigning from the offices of the Lighting and Electric Company, and but one of them, poor Capt. Bolton, has ever vouchsafed a reason in exact terms for leaving their employment. Capt. Bolton is dead, but the statements he made, by friends as to why he resigned are being given added force by the resignation of Messrs. Pratt and Ashley, both of whom were in confidential positions in the president's office.

The statement made by The Times some days ago to the effect that Capt. Bolton said on the night before his death that he left the employ of the lighting company because of a quarrel with President Cline, and also because he "would no longer stand the trouble of plain linotype composition," has been vigorously denied, and men to whom Capt. Bolton made the statement, and who repeated it after his death, have been told in more ways than by mere words that they were wrong.

Nevertheless it is true that Capt. Bolton was called to account by President Cline for the errors in his books, and the conversation was of such a nature that Bolton felt insulted and aggrieved and left the office in a manner plainly indicating that he had no intention of returning. It is also true that on the morning of his death, but before the fact of his suicide was known in the office, formal notification was given to the other employees that Capt. Bolton was no longer in the employ of the company. As soon as the death of the suicide was received that notification was withdrawn.

It has been urged, and with seeming reason, that Bolton was short in his accounts, and that he had not been he would never have killed himself over a mere quarrel.

Capt. Bolton was short in his accounts, but his shortage amounted to less than $100, much less, and was due entirely to errors in book-keeping. It was over this shortage that Mr. Cline told Capt. Bolton to resign. Mr. Cline says there was no quarrel, but Capt. Bolton said otherwise, and employees of the companies, as well as outsiders, understood him when he explained his reason for leaving.

The friends of Capt. Bolton are glad that his so-called shortage is known to have existed, because the amount due the company is so small and so clearly the result of errors in book-keeping that the true facts will set at rest the ugly rumors regarding the death of the suicide. It was not due to the fact that his accounts were incorrect, if those who had every opportunity to know tell the truth, but was due to an extreme sensitiveness which was wounded by a disagreement, if not a quarrel, between himself and his employer.

President Cline has always denied that Capt. Bolton was a defaulter, and also that he and the captain had a quarrel, but the statements of Bolton, coupled with subsequent events, lead to belief that the word "quarrel" may have different definitions with different people.

It is rumored that other resignations are to follow those recently made and in the near future. Things seem to be going on so queerly of late down at the big offices of the Electric and Lighting companies that nothing short of a wholesale sweep of all hands would be very surprising to the outsiders. The queerest part of it all is that the old men are resigning, not being discharged, and there seems no valid reason for their action, except the indefinite "didn't want the place any longer."

Perhaps if poor Bolton had not been sick and gloomy and of so high strung a temperament, he would have been here today to tell us "didn't want the place any longer" to the explanations of the others.

WANT MORE CARRIERS.

Board of Trade Asks for Order of Immediate Appointment.

The Los Angeles Board of Trade is becoming impatient at the procrastination shown by the officials in Washington in ordering that eight additional mail carriers be ordered appointed. By the late census, Los Angeles was shown to have a population which would warrant the appointment of eight additional carriers and the consolidation of suburban post-offices. An order granting the right of appointment was issued, but its execution indefinitely postponed. With the purpose of facilitating the mail service in view, the following telegram was sent to Hon. Perry Heath, First Assistant Postmaster-General, at Washington yesterday:

"We earnestly urge that eight additional carriers be ordered to commence service here July 1, also consolidation of suburban post-offices, which order has been indefinitely postponed. We modify our request to have new service commence immediately."

WANTS HIS BABY.

Elie Altemand Pines for His Missing Offspring.

A boyish-looking young man called at police headquarters yesterday to find out how he could get possession of his baby, which had been spirited away by his mother. The young fellow gave his name as Elie Altemand. He is a baker, and his home is at No. 403 Amelia street. He said he got into trouble some time ago with a young Canadian French woman, and was coaxed into marrying her by the girl's parents. He was also forced to pay her $100 to keep peace in the family. Shortly after their union a baby was born, which he grew very fond. About a week ago his wife deserted him, and took the baby along. He is satisfied that his wife should stay away, but he wants the baby. He was advised to see a lawyer and sue out a writ of habeas corpus.
